Creator: Muller family

Description: 4 linear ft.

Biographical/historical note: Mullers, Lindstedts, and Wieters were early German families who settled in the Charleston (S.C.) area. John D. Muller (1872-1953) was an early Charleston newspaper reporter who was later associated with Charleston phosphate companies. He and his wife Marguertha Agnes Wieters Muller (1880-1942) had four children: John D. Muller, Jr. (1908-1984), a U.S. Post Office employee who was notable for his interests in preservation; Christopher E. Muller (1914-1986); Barbara H. Lindstedt Muller (1906-1990); and Marguerite Agnes Muller (1905-1936), a graduate of the Medical University of South Carolina in Charleston. The Muller family had extensive land holdings in the Charleston area.

Scope and content: Collection consists of papers of the Muller family, papers of several individual Muller family members, and papers of several allied families. The Muller family materials consist of family correspondence, newspaper clippings, family histories, and ephemera. The bulk of this collection pertains to John D. Muller, Sr. (1872-1953), and includes his journals (1929-1953), financial records, speeches, ephemera, and obituaries. Muller's involvement with such Charleston organizations as the South Carolina Society, German Friendly Society, Enston Home, and others are recorded among his papers. Personal papers of several other members of the Muller family are also in the collection, including John D. Muller, Jr., Marguertha Agnes Wieters Muller, Marguerite A. Muller, and Christopher E. Muller.

Allied family members represented in this collection include John Jacob Boesch, Barbara Muller Lindstedt, Mr. and Mrs. Harry H. Lindstedt, and Meta Marie Lindstedt. Their papers consist of correspondence, estate papers, sales records, commonplace books, and ephemera. A small amount of material pertaining to the Wieters family is also included.
