Biographical/Historical Note: Born in New Orleans, La., Ethel-Jane Westfeldt Bunting was educated at Tulane University and Oxford. She lived in Charleston, S.C. from 1967 to the time of her death in 1997 and was active in cultural and civic affairs. She married economist Frederick H. Bunting (d. 1982) of Pennsylvania, and traveled widely with him during the time he was employed by the Agency for International Development, the U.S. Foreign Aid program, and the U.S. State Department. During several years in Pakistan, Mrs. Bunting made a study of the culture and historical artifacts of the Lower Sind Valley and Baluchistan, and was commissioned by the Smithsonian Institute to collect materials for their exhibit on Sindhi culture. Her book "Sindhi Tombs and Textiles: The Persistence of Pattern" was published in 1980.

Scope and content: Papers of Ethel-Jane Bunting are mainly divided into correspondence (1957-1997), and a series of personal files reflecting her pursuits in the study of Pakistani culture and history, her interest in the environment and wildlife of South Carolina, historic preservation in Charleston (S.C.), and politics, as well as her involvement in South Carolina environmental and cultural organizations such as the Gibbes Museum of Art (Charleston, S.C.), the South Carolina Coastal Conservation League, the South Carolina Heritage Trust Advisory Board, the South Carolina Historical Society, and the South Carolina Sea Grant Consortium. There are files pertaining to Charleston Harbor, the Confederate Home (Charleston, S.C.), the Dill Wildlife Refuge on James Island (S.C.), Drum Island (Charleston, S.C.), Capers Island (S.C.), Dewees Island (S.C.), the Angel Oak (Johns Island, S.C.), the Bunting home at 84 Lenwood Boulevard (formerly 131 Tradd St.) in Charleston (S.C.), Hurricane Hugo, the Sea Island Republican Women's Club, and other topics. Also included are papers (1956-1981) of her husband Frederick H. Bunting, mostly personal correspondence.

Preferred citation: Bunting, Ethel-Jane W., 1907. Ethel-Jane W. Bunting papers, 1956-1997. (248.00) South Carolina Historical Society.
