Description: 2.25 linear ft. (7 boxes)

Scope and content: This collection consists of original materials, including correspondence, photographs, and estate records; as well as genealogical data, photocopied family documents, and other material principally pertaining to the McCutchen family and the related families of McCottry, Fraser and Wilson of the South Carolina districts of Williamsburg and Sumter.

McCutchen family papers chiefly relate to George McCutchen II (1788-1865) of Indiantown (S.C.), and later Mill Grove (Sumter District, S.C.), and his son George McCutchen III (1821-1894). McCutchen family correspondence includes a letter (1813) from William Rutledge to George McCutchen (II?) written during the Creek War from Fort Strother (Alabama) in which Rutledge writes of battles and mentions that the "best warriors" were those who fought under a "prophet" ("he had made them believe that if whites killed them they would rise the third day and come to life..."). Correspondence of George McCutchen II includes letters (1840s) to him from his son George at New Jersey College (Princeton, N.J.) regarding his school and studies, and two letters (1862) from George, Jr. written while he was serving in the Confederate Army. Other letters relate to family and church affairs, and shipments and sales of cotton. An account book (1828-1865) of George McCutchen II includes many accounts and other records (1828 to ca. 1836) pertaining to the estates of his brother and sister-in-law, Thomas and Nancy (Agnes) McCutchen, including estate inventories naming slaves. Additional papers include slave records, such as receipts (1864) for slaves (named) sent to work on coastal wartime fortifications; a sheet containing remedies for dropsy and other ailments, as well as a note about the birth of a slave named York; and records (1815-1831), mostly receipts, relating to George McCutchen II as postmaster at Indiantown (S.C.).

A family history album entitled "Hugh and Isabella McCutchen Family of South Carolina" traces the family from an immigrant ancestor, Hugh McCutchen, and includes photocopies of family documents and photographs, and copies of letters (1864) between George McCutchen II and his fiancée Hannah Atkinson Boone Fraser written while he was stationed at Battery White in Georgetown District with his artillery unit. There are also a number of original letters (1864; n.d.) between George McCutchen II and Hannah Fraser, one of which is a proposal of marriage.

Family photographs include images of George McCutchen II, George McCutchen III, Dr. William Rogers Johnson, Hannah Atkinson Boone Fraser McCutchen, and members of the related families of McIver, Fraser, and Coker. Of note are papers and photographs relating to Leighton Mills McCutchen (1906-1936), a missionary to the Belgian Congo, including a letter (1936) written by him to his sister while he was in Africa.
