Biographical/Historical Note: Family of Charleston, Christ Church Parish, and Kiawah Island, South Carolina. Arnoldus Vanderhorst II (1748-1815), a Christ Church Parish plantation owner and politician, married Elizabeth Raven in 1771. His uncle, William Vanderhorst (d. 1767?), was the father of John Vanderhorst (d. 1787). Elias Vanderhorst III (1791-1874), son of Arnoldus Vanderhorst II, married Ann Elliott Morris; among their children were: Elias Vanderhorst IV (1825-1850), Lewis Morris Vanderhorst (1826-1864), and Arnoldus Vanderhorst IV (1835-1881). Arnoldus Vanderhorst IV married Adele Petigru Allston (d. 1915), daughter of Robert F.W. Allston (1801-1864) and Adele Petigru, the sister of James Louis Petigru (1789-1863); one of the sons of Arnoldus Vanderhorst IV was Arnoldus Vanderhorst V (1877-1944). James Louis Petigru's daughter Caroline married William Augustus Carson, and her two sons were James Petigru Carson (b. 1845) and William A. Carson (1842-1904).

Scope and content: Collection assembled by Arnoldus Vanderhorst V (1877-1944) contains the papers of John Vanderhorst (d. 1787), Arnoldus Vanderhorst II (1748-1815), Elias Vanderhorst (1791-1874), Lewis Morris Vanderhorst (1826-1864), Elias Vanderhorst (1825-1850), Arnoldus Vanderhorst (1835-1881), Ann Elliott Morris Vanderhorst, Adele Allston Vanderhorst (d.1915), Arnoldus Vanderhorst (1877-1944), James Louis Petigru (1789-1863), Caroline Petigru Carson (1820-1892), James Petigru Carson (b. 1845), and a series of Vanderhorst family papers arranged by material types.

Papers consist of correspondence, estate, financial, and legal papers, land and plantation papers, journals, diaries, slave records, genealogical materials, photographs, and other items pertaining to several generations of the Vanderhorst and Carson families.

[Vanderhorst family] Collected family papers, 1689-1942 SCHS Call # 1169.01

Description: Ca. 7.5 linear ft.

Biographical/historical note: Family of Charleston, Christ Church Parish, and Kiawah Island, South Carolina.

Scope and content: Collection contains land papers, slave records, family correspondence, business and financial records, plantation papers, genealogical materials, photograph albums, and miscellaneous items pertaining to several generations of the Vanderhorst family.

Land papers (1689-1827) include grants, plats, and other documents concerning properties on Kiawah Island and other locations in South Carolina. Slave records (1791-1867) include lists of slaves who ran away from Chickasee Island (S.C.) during the Civil War and contracts with freedmen. Financial records include personal, business, and household receipts, correspondence, and accounts, many of which pertain to plantations at Kiawah Island (S.C.) and Chickasee Island (S.C.). Plantation papers include a journal (1854-1861) mostly regarding livestock and supplies for slaves at Kiawah. A group of business papers (1698-1892) concern wharves and waterfront property in Charleston (S.C.).

Family correspondence (1793-1918) covers a wide array of subjects including business, family, and personal matters, plantation and social life, and the Civil War and Reconstruction. Miscellaneous items (ca. 1870-1900) include calling cards, invitations, advertisements, theater bills, and other ephemera, recipes, and juvenalia such as school exercises and a journal (1891) of Arnoldus Vanderhorst (1877-1944). Genealogical papers consist of photographs, correspondence, notes, charts, and other materials, mostly of Arnoldus Vanderhorst (1877-1944), regarding the Allston, Morris, Petigru, and Vanderhorst families.

Three photograph albums (ca. 1860-1920), some possibly collected by Caroline P. Carson, contain photographs of members of the allied Carson family, friends, and celebrated persons, taken by European and American photographers. There are also loose photographs, including those of Dean Hall and other plantations, and Vanderhorst family members.

Containers:

Creator: Vanderhorst, Arnoldus, 1748-1815.

Description: Ca. 450 items

Biographical/Historical Note: Christ Church Parish, S.C. plantation owner and politician. Among other properties, Vanderhorst owned houses in Charleston (S.C.) and a plantation on Kiawah Island (S.C.). He was elected as a state representative for his parish in 1772 and afterwards held many political offices, including Governor of South Carolina from 1794 to 1796. During the Revolutionary War Vanderhorst served as captain of a militia company stationed at Haddrell's Point (S.C.), and colonel (1782) under General Francis Marion. He married Elizabeth Raven in 1771; among their six children was John Stanyarne Vanderhorst (1781-1816).

Scope and content: Papers consist of official and business correspondence, financial records, including accounts for Vanderhorst's plantations at Kiawah and on the Wando River, estate papers, a 1796 speech to the South Carolina legislature, and other items.

Correspondents of Captain Arnoldus Vanderhorst, on board the ship Flag of Truce of North Carolina, include North Carolina Governor A. Nash, William Moultrie, and others. Business correspondence of Vanderhorst with surveyor John Hardwick and others concerns the surveying of Kiawah Island (S.C.), and damages to the island by the British; construction of a house and schooner; and land matters. Other business papers include tax receipts and accounts for plantations, houses, and other concerns. Political correspondence (1795-1796) pertains to frontier defenses against the Cherokee and Creek Indians, political appointments, pirates, congressional elections, law codes, and other matters; correspondents include Charles Cotesworth Pinckney, Robert Anderson, Hugh Rutledge, and others.

Estate papers (1763-1817) consist of correspondence, accounts and other financial records, wills and other legal instruments, and other items. Papers include correspondence concerning claims on the estate of John Gibbes (1696-1764); a list of the possessions of John Paul Grimke (1713-1791); and estate papers of Arnoldus Vanderhorst (1748-1815) and John S. Vanderhorst (d. 1816).

SCHS Call # 1169.02.07

Creator: Vanderhorst, Arnoldus, 1835-1881

Description: 18 items.

Biographical/Historical note: Note Born in Charleston, South Carolina in 1835, Arnoldus Vanderhorst was the son of plantation owner Elias Vanderhorst (1791-1874) and his wife Ann Elliott Morris Vanderhorst. During the Civil War Arnoldus Vanderhorst was an officer in the C.S.A. Army. He died in a hunting accident on Kiawah Island (S.C.) on December 1, 1881.

Scope and content: Papers are mainly correspondence between Arnoldus Vanderhorst, Alfred Rhett, and William Huger and others regarding a duel (8 August 1862) between Vanderhorst and Rhett. There is also a handwritten essay (signed "Sydney") entitled "A Blunder and its Consequences" concerning the duel between Rhett and Vanderhorst in which no one was hurt, and a later duel (5 Sept. 1862) between Rhett and Col. W.R. Calhoun in which the latter was killed.

Arnoldus Vanderhorst papers, ca. 1870-1939.
SCHS Call #1169.02.08

Creator: Vanderhorst, Arnoldus, 1877-1944.

Description: Ca. 5 linear ft.

Biographical/Historical note: Charleston, S.C. attorney, S.C. state Representative, and co-owner of Kiawah Island (S.C.). The son of Arnoldus Vanderhorst (1835-1881) and Adele Petigru Allston, he was a member of many social and civic organizations including the Masons and the St. Cecilia Society.

Scope and content: Papers consist of official, business, and personal correspondence, legal documents, financial records, and other items pertaining to the affairs of Arnoldus Vanderhorst.

A group of papers (1896-1939), mostly concerning the operations and maintenance of a Kiawah Island (S.C.) plantation, but also family and personal matters, includes correspondence, leases, accounts, and legal documents regarding litigation with tenants, relatives, merchants, and government agencies.

Papers concerning Vanderhorst's legal cases consist mainly of correspondence but also include wills and other estate papers, receipts, plats, abstracts of titles, and other legal documents. Legal documents include estate settlements and disputes, insurance claims, real estate transactions and other property matters, including the sale of Chicora Wood Plantation (Georgetown County, S.C.) for the estate of Elizabeth W.A. Pringle. A large part of the case materials pertain to the purchase of properties of the Charleston Terminal Company by the City of Charleston (S.C.) in 1922, and include extensive examination of titles to the old wharfs owned by the Company. Another large group of papers includes correspondence and other documents pertaining to the purchase of Boone Hall Plantation and other properties by the South Atlantic Pecan Company.

Business papers include account books and other financial records, and correspondence concerning investments and other matters. Political papers (1901-1926) are mainly correspondence regarding legislative affairs, but also include clippings and other items. Other correspondence has to do with Vanderhorst's personal and civic affairs. Topics include the purchase of law books, recreational pursuits such as travel, breeding hunting dogs, and yachting, and his activities as a member of various civic and social organizations.

Ann Elliott Morris Vanderhorst papers, 1859-1882. SCHS Call # 1169.02.09

Description Ca. 75 items.

Biographical/Historical note: Daughter of Col. Lewis Morris (1752-1824) of Morrisania (N.Y.) and Charleston, South Carolina, and Ann Elliott. She married Elias Vanderhorst (1791-1874), a St. Bartholomew Parish (S.C.) plantation owner. Their children included Elias Vanderhorst (1825-1850), Lewis Morris Vanderhorst (1826-1864), Arnoldus Vanderhorst (1835-1881), and Anna Raven Vanderhorst (b.1830), who married John W. Lewis.

Scope and content: Papers consist of Ann Elliott Morris Vanderhorst's diaries, business correspondence, financial records, including receipts and accounts pertaining to property in New York (N.Y.), an address book, an annotated almanac (1845), writings, estate papers, and other items.

Diaries (1858-1878) concern family matters, the Civil War, plantation affairs, and financial and other concerns. A Civil War diary (1863-1864) describes Vanderhorst's fears of a bombardment of Charleston (S.C.), her travels, the ill health of her sons, and conditions on Kiawah Island (S.C.).

Estate papers of Ann Elliott Morris Vanderhorst include accounts with Arnoldus Vanderhorst (1835-1881) and her grandchildren, the estate account books (1875-1881) of Elias (1791-1874) and Ann Elliott Morris Vanderhorst, a list of securities, bonds, and an inventory of the estate.

Writings, mostly for children, include a play, stories, and story fragments.
